VOL. XXIII RENO, WASHOE COUNTY, NEVADA, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1887. NO. 139

[No. 1262.]

SUPREME COURT OF NEVADA.

L. B. Frankel & Co., vs. Their Creditors.

(By Belknap, J.)

This is an appeal from orders of the District Court adjudging L. B. Frankel & Co. insolvents, appointing an assignee and staying proceedings.

Numerous reasons are assigned for the reversal of the orders, the prominent one being that "the Court had no jurisdiction in the premises because it appeared that L. B. Frankel & Co. were brokers, and the debts and liabilities from which they petition to be discharged were contracted by them in a fiduciary capacity and character."

The determination of this point involves an examination of the statute concerning proceeding in insolvency.

The Act entitled "An Act for the relief of insolvent debtors and protection of creditors," approved March 3, 1881, (Gen'l Stats. S 3 and 45 et seq.) under which the proceedings were taken, is substantially a copy of the California Insolvency law of 1852, but after copying this law, which provides only for voluntary insolvency, provision was made in succeeding sections for cases in which creditors could institute proceedings to have their debtors adjudged insolvent and their estates administered.

At Section 30, which was a part of the California law, it declares:

"All insolvent debtors owing, or accountable in any manner, for public funds or property, of whatever nature or kind, all unfaithful depositories, all such as refuse or neglect to pay up all funds received by them as bankers, brokers, commission merchants, or for money, goods, or effects received by them in a fiduciary capacity, shall be denied the benefits of this Act."

Before the adoption of this section by the Legislature of this State, the Supreme Court of California had construed it as excluding bankers and brokers from the jurisdiction of the Insolvency Court.

Cohen vs. Barrett, 5 Cal., 195.

It is claimed under a familiar rule of statutory construction, that the interpretation was adopted as well as the terms of the statute.

The views of the California Court with reference to the general purpose of the law of 1852 deserves attention. Upon this subject it was said in Conen vs. Barrett, 5 Cal., 212: "If the power to discharge the insolvent is denied, in this class of cases, (bankers) jurisdiction for any other purpose would seem inharmonious to the general scheme or policy of the Act, which looks to the final discharge as the object to be worked out, and cannot be said in these cases to be of any protection to the creditor, by simply permitting the debtor to throw his assets into insolvency for distribution if he thinks proper to do so, for it must be borne in mind that the Act makes no provision for an involuntary surrender, and the mere permission of an exercise of volition on the part of an insolvent debtor, will be found to amount to no protection at all, particularly where the benefits of the Act are denied, and the real incentive to an honest surrender of all his assets is thus removed."

In Sanborn vs. His Creditors, 37 Cal., 610, the Court said:

"The statute, as its title imports, was intended for the relief of insolvent debtors and the protection of creditors. The 'relief' and the 'protection,' for which it provides proceed pari passu. If the debtor, for any cause, is entitled to no 'relief,' the creditors are entitled to no 'protection,' for they stand in need of none, except such as is afforded by the general laws for the collection of debts. Hence, if, upon the trial of an accusation of fraud, the debtor is found guilty, the final judgment is that his discharge be denied, and that he be forever denied the benefit of the laws passed for the relief of insolvent debtors in this State. (Sec. 23.) With this judgment the entire proceedings terminate, and the relation of the petitioner and his creditors in respect to each other, and to the estate of the former, remain as at the commencement, except that the petitioner becomes liable to the pains and penalties provided in the 25th Section."

Appeal vs. His Creditors, 57 Cal., 211, was an appeal from an order made in an insolvency proceeding under the law of 1852.

The assignee had received from the Sheriff certain moneys belonging to the insolvent. After a trial of issues the debtor was denied the benefit of the insolvent law. Thereupon the Court directed the assignee to return the money to the Sheriff. The order was affirmed.

These decisions show the purpose of the California law to have been the discharge of the insolvent debtor, and it was accordingly held that if he could not have the benefit of the law he was excluded from its jurisdiction.

The insolvency law of this State proceeds upon a different principle. It provides various cases in which creditors may have their debtors adjudged insolvent, and his estate ratably distributed, while under the California law the debtor alone could inaugurate the proceeding. This feature distinguishes the principle upon which the laws are founded. One has for its object the final discharge of the insolvent; the main purpose of the other is a ratable distribution of his property.

Our statute differs in many respects from the national bankrupt law of 1867, but its purpose is in the main similar. In construing certain provisions of that law the Supreme Court of the United States, in Wilson vs. City Bank, took occasion to consider its general spirit and purpose, employing language applicable in the present case. The court said: "In both classes of cases (voluntary and involuntary bankruptcy) undoubtedly the primary object is to secure a just distribution of the bankrupt's property among his creditors, and in both the secondary object is the release of the bankrupt from the obligation to pay the debts of those creditors. But in case of voluntary bankruptcy the aid of the law is invoked by the bankrupt himself, with the purpose of being discharged from his debts as his principal motive, and in the other the movement is made by his creditors, with the purpose of securing the appropriation of his property to their payment, the discharge being with them a matter of no weight and often contested." (17 Wall 480.)

And that jurisdiction does not depend upon the right of the debtor to receive the benefits of the bankrupt law. We quote from Van Nostrand vs. Carr, 30 Md, 128: "The jurisdiction of the bankrupt court does not depend upon the right of the party ultimately to obtain his discharge; this may be denied him for various causes enumerated in the law, and can be determined only by facts and circumstances disclosed in the progress of the cause. After the jurisdiction has attached, it is not essential to the jurisdiction that the party shall appear to be entitled to a discharge without the consent of his creditors."

If the objection urged to the jurisdiction be valid in the present case, and the California decisions followed, the objection would be good in every case where an insolvent would be denied a discharge, and the great purpose of the law—the distribution of the property of a debtor among his creditors—would thereby be defeated. The view that such a result was not contemplated by the Legislature, and that the expression in Section 30 "denied the benefits of the Act," does not mean a denial of jurisdiction, is, we think, strengthened by the fortieth section of the statute, which, among other things, provides as follows: "Section 40. An adjudication of insolvency may be made on the petition of five or more creditors, residents of this State, * * * setting forth that * * * a bank or banker, agent, broker, factor or commission merchant has failed for forty days to pay any moneys deposited with, or received by him in a fiduciary capacity, upon demand of payment * * *."

This is an express grant of jurisdiction. If Section 30 be construed as excluding jurisdiction of brokers, the Legislature would have created an unreasonable distinction in permitting the creditors of this class of people to place them in insolvency, but excluding brokers themselves from invoking the aid of the law. Jurisdiction would thus be made to depend upon the form of the proceeding. There is no reason for such a distinction in our statute.

It is a general rule of statutory construction that when a statute has received a judicial construction and is afterwards adopted by another State, the construction, as well as the terms of the statute, will be deemed adopted. But the rule is not inflexible. In Tyler vs. Tyler, 19, Ill., 151, the Supreme Court of Illinois refused to follow the settled construction received by an English statute, prior to its adoption by the Legislature of that State, because the construction was based upon a reason not existing in the State of Illinois.

The reasoning of the California decisions is not applicable to our law. Section 30 was incorporated by our Legislature into a law essentially different from that of California. The section stands in an entirely different connection than in the law from which it was taken, and the changed conditions require for it a different construction.

See also, Little vs. Smith, 4 Scam, 402; Lessee of Gray vs. Asken, 3 Ohio, 479; Jamison vs. Burton, 43 Iowa, 282; McCutcheon vs. the People, 69 Ill., 601.

The firm of L. B. Frankel & Co. was composed of five members. The copartnership was adjudged insolvent upon the petition of two of the partners. The proceedings were instituted under Section 47 of the insolvency law which provides: "Section 47. Two or more persons who are partners in business may be adjudged insolvent either on the petition of such partners or any one of them, * * * in which case an order shall be issued in the manner provided by this Act, upon which all the joint stock and property of the partnership, and also all the separate estate of each partner shall be taken * * *. If the petition be filed by less than all the partners of a copartnership, these partners who do not join in the petition shall be ordered to show cause why they should not be adjudged to be insolvent in the same manner as other debtors are required to show cause, upon a creditor's petition, as in this Act provided." The petition having been filed by less than all of the partners, the order required by the statute was directed to be issued.

Before the return day, the partners to whom it was directed, appeared by an attorney-at-law and consented to an order of adjudication of insolvency. It is argued that the District Court did not acquire jurisdiction of these partners upon the theory that there should have been an appearance in person of each of them. Section 33 of the law provides that "no person can apply for, or receive the benefit of this Act through an agent or attorney in fact;" and Section 5 requires the petitioner in insolvency to sign and verify the schedule of his property to be attached to the petitioner. But these provisions do not support the objection. The proceeding as to the three partners was compulsory in form.

Section 43 provides that at the hearing of the order to show cause, "the debtor may demur to the petition for the same causes as are provided for demurrer in other cases by the Civil Practice Act. If the demurrer be overruled, the debtor shall have ten days thereafter in which to answer the petition. If the debtor answers the petition, such answer shall contain a specific denial of the material allegations of the petition controverted by him, and shall be verified in the same manner as pleadings in civil actions, and the issues raised thereon may be tried with or without a jury, according to the practice provided by law for the trial of civil actions."

These provisions evidently contemplate that the appearance of respondents may be made, and subsequent proceedings conducted by an attorney-at-law. It is also claimed, that as L. B. Frankel was not a resident of the State of Nevada, he was not within the provisions of the insolvency law, and that the Court had no jurisdiction of his person or property.

Jurisdiction of his person was acquired by his voluntary appearance through his attorney, and jurisdiction of the property of the copartnership and of the separate estate of each partner was acquired by virtue of the provisions of the 47th section of the Act, heretofore quoted.

In McDaniel vs. King, 5 Cushing, 469, insolvency proceedings were instituted by a creditor against a partnership, one of the members of which had resided in the State within a year—the period fixed by the statute—but had removed therefrom, although the other never had been resident within the State. The question was presented there as here, whether insolvency proceedings could reach partnership affairs in such a case. The subject was fully considered, under a statutory provision less comprehensive than ours, and the proceedings upheld.

The Court, speaking through Chief Justice Shaw, said: "Is it then a valid objection to these proceedings, under the insolvent law against a resident of this State, that he has a partner not resident, who has not been a resident in this State, and who is not personally amenable to the laws of this State? A person may be a partner in several concerns, with persons in and out of the State; but this affords no reason why he and his separate property, and also that part of his property involved in partnership transactions, so far as such property can be reached either directly or through him, should be secured from the operation of the insolvent law. This law proposes to take possession of his separate property, and of his separate interest in the joint property, which can be reached, and administer these interests equitably, and nothing more. Nor, as personal property has no locality, would it defeat the operation of the assignment, that such property is at the time out of the State. Whether the assignment would affect such property, either in right or possession, if in the possession or under the control of such foreign partner, is not now in question. The only question at present is, whether the proceedings here are legal and regular, not what their effect and operation may be, here or elsewhere.

"If it were otherwise, if it were held, that the insolvent laws do not apply to the case if a debtor, who is personally amenable to our laws, because there is a joint debtor, liable for the same debts, who is not personally amenable, the result would be, that creditors would be left as before the Act, to a race of diligence in seizing and appropriating the debtor's property; and one great purpose of the Act, an equal distribution of the debtor's property, would be defeated. The twenty-first section of the statute clearly contemplates the case where the debtor who is amenable has one or more partners in and out of the State. It is objected that their construction would make the Act operate upon foreign citizens. We are not to presume that the Legislature intended to exceed the just limits of legislative power, nor could such intention be carried into effect, had they entertained it; but the purpose was to carry out the policy of an insolvent law, as far as from the nature of the case it was practicable to do it, as well against partners as individuals. The assignment will apply to property within reach of the assignee; and it is sufficient for the present purpose, that there was partnership property within the State, subject to the operation of its laws, that the commissioner had jurisdiction, and the proceedings were regularly instituted; and it is not neccessary now to inquire, whether the assignee can go into another State to reach property there, or how far the proceedings can operate in other States, or upon the rights of foreign residents."

We are of opinion that the orders appealed from should be affirmed. It is so ordered.

The Perfection

Of the age in the medical line is the liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Co., San Francisco, Cal. It is agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach, harmless in its nature, painless yet prompt and through in its action. For sale by Wm. Pinniger, Reno, Nevada.

Unnecessary Misery.

Probably as much misery comes from habitual constipation as from any derangement of the functions of the body, and it is difficult to cure, for the reason that no one likes to take the medicines usually prescribed. Hamburg Figs were prepared to abviate this difficulty, and they will be found pleasant to the taste of women and children. 25 cents. At all druggists. J. J. Mack & Co., Proprietors, San Francisco.

A Chinese Complexion,

When observed in one of the Caucasian race, is indicative of bile in the blood. Who would be yellow when he or she can exhibit the hue of health on check and brow through the aid of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an antagonist at whose onset liver complaint takes flight? Fur upon the tongue, nausea, sick headache, pains under the right ribs and shoulder blade, an unpleasantly odorous breath are remediable with this benign alterative, which does not, like a potent cathartic, drench the intestines or, like the mercurical preparations, contaminate the blood. Not only the liver, but the stomach and bowels are aroused, toned and regulated by this fine family medicine, which has won the confidence of the respectable classes, not by startling assertions on its behalf, but by the consistency of the claims made for it with its performance in every instance when tested.

In Brief, and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, tough food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

SHILOH'S VITALIZER is what you need for Constipation, Loss of Appetite, Dizziness and all symptoms of Dyspepsia. Price 10 and 75 cents per bottle. Sold by Osburn & Shoemaker.

ELECTRICITY has entered so extensively into general use, and is employed for so many different purposes, that education in electrical science has become a subject of great concern. Facilities for such education are deficient in extent. They have been completely outgrown by that wonderous science whose applications are now found throughout the range of mechanical work and even in our domestic life. Little is known of electricity by even electrical engineers, and but comparatively few of the great public which employs it daily, for innumerable purposes, are familiar with even an elementary knowledge of its properities. Even among those who are immediately engaged in directing the subtle fluid to its various uses ignorance of electrical science is the rule. This situation comes about chiefly through the startling rapidity with which electrical applications have invaded nearly all branches of human industry. In almost a twinkling it has been found convenient and economical to employ electricity in a thousand and one directions, and with the discovery of the feasibility of its use for these various purposes has come an almost equally rapid utilization of that discovery. As a consequence the actual application and subsequent care and direction has of necessity been placed in the hands of persons unacquainted with the real nature of the curious agent over which they were given control. It is obvious that, even in its simplest applications the best results could be obtained were these applications in the hands of those possessing a more thorough knowledge of its properities. We require a wider diffusion of electrical knowledge, not only because of the need of more intelligent supervision of the applications of electricity already made, but because of the call for still further, and still more economical, applications which a larger number of working students would surely discover.

SOME of the leading men of England, including the Marquis of Harlington, Sir Lyon Playfair, and some others of like standing, have organized a society for the promomotion of technical education, including commercial and agricultural science. The speakers at a late meeting, says the Louisville Courier Journal, showed their anxiety at the great progessiveness displayed by other nations in this matter, especially the Germanic. There is nothing in England comparing with the technical college of Zurich, and Germany has established a $3,500,000 foundation for a technical college at Strasburg. There is a technical training school, with one or more trade guilds, in nearly every town in England, but the nation seems to be not keeping abreast with others in higher technical education. Earnestness, if not anxiety, like this is displayed in so advanced a manufacturing nation as England, under apprehensions that other nations may get ahead by means of more scientific systems of technical education. But the United States is doing almost nothing, comparatively, in the way of promoting interest in technical education and scientific mechanics, though behind other nations in relative manufacturing advancement, and ahead of all in manufacturing resources. Yet there is no doubt that movements of this kind under the proper men would be supported by the public with the greatest cordiality, and, indeed, with enthusiasm.

THE Sacramento Record-Union is evidently desirous of establishing a reputation for enterprise. It comes to hand this morning embellished with a large portrait of Governor Bartlett, surrounded by a heavy border of mourning. Would it not be as well to wait till the Governor is really dead before decorating him with this ghastly emblem?

A Busy Place.

The Lassen Mail says: The farmers of the valley are busy harvesting their grain. The threshers have been at Shugru's place this week, and next expect to thresh several large stacks at Leavitt's and Lanigir's places. Nicholas Clarke has 1,500 bushels of as pretty White Chili wheat as we have ever seen, and 200 tons of fine hay. He recently sold a band of cattle to Jake McKissick. Mr. Clark leaves for Marysville in a few days with a ton of butter, which he made at his Last Chance dairy this season.

BARTLETT STILL LINGERING.

Eastern Railroad Companies Reducing Baggage Rates.

[PRESS DISPATCHES TO THE GAZETTE]

The Alaska Seizures.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Sir James Ferguson, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, replying to Gourley in the Commons to-day, said the Government had no information in reference to the seizure of the Pathfinder by the American Government, but unless she was engaged in fishing within three miles of the coast of Alaska she was not liable to lawful seizure.

Reports are received that seven vessels in all have been seized. The American Government has ordered that no more vessels be seized pending judicial proceedings, and that the vessels and persons already seized be discharged, reserving all the questions involved for negotiation at Washington. He is not prepared to state what course the Government would take in dealing with the Alaskan fishery question.

Eastern Newspaper Attacks on Mackay.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9—A World's editorial says: It is reported that Mackay is about to inaugurate a cable war. It is also reported that Mackay has lost a great deal of money in the wheat deal. All sorts of reports are circulated about Mackay, but nobody knows what Mackay is doing, or what he intends to do. Although he has great dealings with the public, he never takes the public into his confidence. He hides from newspaper interviewers who seek him, and the result is many false rumors, which are spread abroad to his detriment, are never contradicted. When in New York Mackay is surrounded by a clique which erects a barrier between him and the public. As a man of affairs Mackay ought to cultivate reporters and thus acquire elbow touch with the human family.

How Admission Day was Observed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept 9.—In this city to-day Admission Day being a legal holiday, the banks and wholesale houses were closed, but the United States courts and offices being governed by the United States only, remained open. In general the retail houses were open for business. Many of the citizens left last evening for Napa, to be present this morning at the celebration of Admission Day by the Native Sons of the Golden West, from different parts of the State. A parade, in which about 4,000 persons participated, and literary and other appropriate exercises made up the programme of the day at Napa. Advices from interior towns are to the effect that the day was quietly observed.

The French Army.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The mobilizing experiment necessitates the raising of the 17th army corps from 1,000 to 36,759 fully clothed, armed and equiped. The members of the reserve are of fine physique. The cavalry have a good pace, but the men lack a firm seat, many having been thrown. The officers were somewhat bothered in handling larger bodies of men than they were accustomed to. The artillery movements were sluggish. Altogether, however, the experiment inspires confidence in the army. At the conclusion of the sham fight to-day, General Ferron conferred upon General Clement the decoration of Commander of the Legion of Honor.

Fixing Baggage Rates.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—At the passenger agents' meeting to-day it was determined to raise the baggage limit of emigrants from 100 to 150 pounds. The new emigrant tariff will not go into effect until about October 15th. It was decided to let rates west of Chicago remain as at present for at least ten days, when it is intended to restore them to the old scheme. The free baggage limit of first-class passengers was changed from 100 to 150 pounds.

Nine Hours a Day.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 10.—The St. Louis Typographilal Union, jointly with the Pressmens' Union, have notified the employing printers of this city that after November 1st nine hours shall constitute a day's work and eight hours on Saturday, and that wages shall remain unchanged. The employers held a meeting to-night and adopted resolutions declaring the demand unjust and that it should be firmly resisted.

More Sealers Wanted.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The annual report of George R. Tingle, Treasury Agent in charge of the Alaska seal Islands, has been received. The agent says the time has come when the lessees of the islands should be authorized to employ additional natives and teach them the business of sealing, as death has played sad havoc with the native sealers of the islands.

Workmen Buried Alive.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—Thomas Kelly, Michael Crowe and another man named Walters, were buried alive this evening, in the aqueduct at North Yonkers. The earth above caved in on them. They lie under 120 feet of earth, and there is no possible chance of their having escaped instant death.

A Large Donation.

WARSAW, Ind., Sept. 10.—Elijah Hayes and wife, of Warsaw, have donated to the Methodist Board of Missions property valued at $130,000. This comprises their entire possessions, they reserving but a small annuity.

The Government Anxious.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Government has issued an urgent whip to their supporters to attend a sitting of the House of Commons on Monday during the debate on the proclamation of the Ennis meeting. They have decided to apply the closure rule the first night.

Those Bloody Evictors.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Times says the blood of the Mitchellton victims is on the heads of Messrs. O'Brien, Daoitt and Labouchere, who used inflammatory language against the muzzles of rifles. This teaches the people that although their leaders have amusement and profit, the people pay for it with their skins. The News says coericon was not long in bearing its bitterest fruits. The Government meant to provoke bloodshed in Ireland.

The Post says the Mitchelltown affair shows the necessity for the full application of the Crimes Act to prevent such meetings altogether.

Bartlett Still Lingers.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—There is practically no change in Governor Bartlett's condition to-day. He remains unconscious most of the time. At noon his pulse was 108; temperature, 100; respiration, 32. Lieutenant Governor Waterman and his private secretary, Boruck, called at the house for a few minutes this morning, but were not permitted to see the Governor. Waterman said he would perform no official act while a spark of life was left.

The Grand Old Man.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Daily News says that if anything could be more flattering to Gladstone than the invitation from Philadelphia, it would be the unanimous regret of both the press and people of America that he has been obliged to decline.

Junketting Nobility.

LONDON, September 10.—The Emperor of Brazil will visit Viesna and Italy, and will spend the Winter in Egypt and Algeria, and on his return again visit England.

The Cholera.

LONDON, Sept 10.—The Austrian Consul at Bombay reports that 31,328 deaths from cholera occurred in Oude during last May.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

—The French Consul at Rustchuk has been recalled, his life having been threatened.

—Ex-Congressmen Talbot, of Kenucky, died in Philadelphia yesterday rom heart disease.

—During the past 24 hours there were six new cases of cholera and four deaths from the disease reported in London.

—West, one of E. J. Baldwin's jockeys, who was terribly injured at Saratoga on August 29, died yesterday from his injuries.

—Reports have been received at the Department of State from Chili to the effect that the cholera is spreading rapidly in that country.

—W. H. Markham, who forged payrolls to the amount of $13,000, while acting as Paymaster of the British man-of-war Espori, arrived in San Francisco yesterday, on his way to China to answer to the charge of forgery.

—The Socialists of New York city have made application to have inspectors for their party placed on the list of election officers. They intend to hold a State Convention and place a ticket in the field.

"Clio."

Ben Teale and wife, of the Star Theater, New York, passed through Reno last night. Mr. Teale, who a few years ago was a dramatic critic on the San Francisco newspapers, is now one of the most successful play "placers" in the country. He brought with him Miss Kate Forsythe, Mr. T. G. Patton and Mr. Ebbin Playton. They will take the leading roles in the production of "Clio" in the Baldwin Theater next Monday night. It is spectacular drama from the Wilson, Barrett and Sydney comedy and created quite a sensation in New York. Mr. Teale returns to Niblo's in a few weeks to place "she" on the boards. He says Jim O'Niel and wife have just returned from Europe and will visit the Coast with Monte Cristo during the Winter season.

Grub on the C. & C.

The employes on the C. & C. road complain that the grub at some of the eating stations along the line of the road is the worst they ever saw. Not long ago a lot of the train hands interviewed one of the eating houses and threatenrd that if they had more old bull beef played on them they would lift the roof off the place. Since then their food has been something charming.—Appeal.

They now gorge themselves on hare stew, fricaseed liver, lamb fries and truffled oysters.

Sweeny's Racers.

Four fast nags from Col. John Sweeny's stables, at Carson, arrived to-day. They formed a pretty procession as they went through town attached to sulkies. All the paraphernalia necessary to make their stable comfortable came with the quick steppers.

The Sweetest Girl.

The handsomest young man at the Sodality picnic to-morrow will have his choice of all the young ladies assembled there as a prize for his looks. There will also, says the Report, be a prize for the sweetest girl. We suppose they will have a committee to taste all the girls, so as to faithfully award the prizes. Where's Chartz?

WRENCHED HIS BACK.

LYNDONVILLE, ORLEANS Co., N. Y., April 2, 1885.—About a year ago, I imprudently stepped off the Hudson River cars while they were in motion. In trying to save myself from a fearful fall I wrenched my back terribly. The next day I could not walk, and I suffered pain from my neck to my heels. Various applications were made, but nothing which was done abated my suffering. Being anxious to get up and attend to business, I determined to place three Allcock's Porous Plasters, one above the other, on my back. In about an hour and a half they caused considerable itching. The pain and soreness sensibly decreased, and I rested pretty well that night. The next morning the itching began to be quite severe under the plasters. To get some relief, I had my back well rubbed cross-ways over the Plasters. I was surpised within two hours afterwards to find the pain and soreness almost gone. I stayed in bed that day; and the morning afterwards I got up and attended to business.

LOOKS LIKE BUSINESS.

Foley and Cleveland Each Subscribe $5,000 for the Proposed Road.

A meeting of Salt Lake City local capitalists interested in building a road west of the Nevada line, and which shall be extended to Los Angeles, was held last Wednesday evening, in the Chamber of Commerce, with Govenor West in the chair. The Sentinel says: The Govenor made a fine and telling speech. Among other things, he said: "There are many powerful railroad corporations struggling this way, and when they come they will want to go further. We give an invitation to all the big roads, and we will give them wings to go further West, that they may carry to the East the blessings of the distant country of the world."

Nephi W. Clayton was elected Secretary and R. G. Raybould Treasurer. The Chairman then read the statute covering the proposed organization. One thousand dollars per mile must be subscribed, ten per cent of which must be paid to the Treasurer. From Salt Lake City to the Nevada line was 175 miles; $1,000 per mile, therefore means $175,000, and ten per cent was $176,000. On W. S. McCormick's motion, the chair was instructed to appoint a committee of three to solicit subscriptions.

The following preamble headed the subscription list: To take the necessary steps for the purpose of forming a corporation to construct and operate a railway within the limits of Salt Lake and Toole counties, we the undersigned hereby subscribe the amount of stock set opposite our names respectfully.

Twelve men at once subscribed $5,000 each and three men $500 each, making $61,500. At this juncture it was announced that A. C. Cleveland and M. D. Foley, of Nevada, would subscribe $5,000 each, making the total for the evening, $71,500. The chair then appointed W. S. McCormick, Jas. Jack and J. E. Dooley as a committee of three to solicit subscriptions, and next Monday evening at 8 o'clock was set as the time for hearing their report in the Chamber of Commerce.

Among those who subscribed $5,000 were M. H. Wright, of Los Angeles, and L. H. Houghton, of San Francisco. Checks covering ten per cent of the $71,500 were handed the Treasurer before the meeting adjourned.

Heavy Traffic.

The traffic over the Central Pacific Railroad is so great at present that they are running double crews on all the passenger trains—each train being hauled by two locomotives. Some of the locomotives, run 300 miles a day. Nearly every morning and evening two sections of passenger trains pass through East and West. It is estimated that there is enough traffic now passing over the road to justify the use of ten locomotives and as they cannot spare them, the company prefer to wear out the engines than the men, as the former can easily be replaced, while good engineers are rather scarce.

Make No Mistake.

By dispelling the symptoms so often mistaken for consumption, SANTA ABIE has brought gladness to many a household. By its prompt use for breaking up the cold that too often develops into that fatal disease, thousands can be saved from an untimely grave. You make no mistake by keeping a bottle of this pleasant remedy in your house. CALIFORNIA-CATR-CURE is equally effective in eradicating all traces of Nasal Catarrh. Both of these wonderful California remedies are sold and warranted by Osburn & Shoemaker wholesale and retail agents. $1.00 a package, 3 for $2 50.

In the Whole Hideous Catalogue

Of diseases, there were none which, previous to the discovery of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, offered more formidable resistance to the old fashioned modes of treatment than the group of maladies which, under the collective name of malarial disease, afflicted entire communities that suffered hopelessly. Chills and fever, dumb ague, ague cake and bilious remittent were once regarded as well nigh incurable. Now it rejoices the hearts of thousands who reside in districts periodically subject to the visitation of malaria, to feel certain defense against the scourge, a sure means of expelling its poison from the system. To the settler in the far West, the new emigrant thither, and to travelers and tourists by land and sea, the possession of this pleasant safeguard is a guaranty of safety from diseases which they might vainly seek from any other source.

Happiness and Health,

Are important problems, the former depending greatly on the latter. Everyone is familiar with the healthy properties of fruit, and no one can afford to be sick and miserable while the pleasant California concentrated liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs, may be had of our enterprising druggist, Wm. W. D. Suit, druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the liver, kidneys or blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at S. J. MINING MATTERS.

Interesting Notes from Interior Mining Camps.

Union—or Sherwood—is a small settlement of 250 people, consisting of three saloons and one boarding house. There is a new lodging house in course of construction.

This is a new mining district, situated about ten miles from Blackburn Station, on the Eureka & Palisade railroad, and is a very promising mining camp. They have a 40-ton smelter and work from 30 to 40 tons of ore per day, averaging about $35 per ton of silver and lead. They have one of the most substantial mills in the country, and so great is the excitement there that miners are actually living in dug outs. The ore comes from four different shafts. The Star, 120 feet deep, 22 feet in width, assays $65 to $100 per ton; they have now 1,200 tons on hand now. The Martin, 100 feet down, 15 foot ledge, with 200 tons on the dump, assaying $25 per ton. The Bell has three levels, 50-foot, 100-foot and 150-foot, carrying heavy deposits in lead and carbonates and assays 27 ounces in silver to the ton. The other is of lesser importance, while the whole are under the management of Wm. Stevens, who has been foreman of the Eureka Con. for the past eighteen years. The General Manager, Dr. Potter, says he will erect another smelter immediately adjacent to the one now in operation, as he speaks very highly of the District and says that it has as bright a future as any mining camp he has ever been in. Men are flocking there from every section. This is another good score for Nevada's future.

Carlin's Mining Prospects.

The B. and H. mine, located in the Richmond Mining District, Eureka county, 18 miles from Carlin and owned by Bernard & Hill and Mr. Dragovich, formerly of Reno. The incline is down 60 feet, showing a vein of from 2 to 4 feet. The ore is pure white quartz and assays over $100 per ton. Samples of this ore were sent to the GAZETTE office this morning. The proprietors believe they have a bonanza.

Still Another Mine.

The Olampale Tunnel Mining Company, of Rye Patch, Humboldt county, Black Canyon, W. T. Walton, General Manager, is in now 100 feet, where the ledge is 14 feet wide, and at this point they propose starting another tunnel for a distance of 1,000 feet into the heart of the mountain. Mr. Walton has expended $3,000 on this property already, but is in the best of spirits over the bright prospects that present themselves. The ore averages $39 per ton in silver.

BASEBALL BATTERS.

A New Club in Reno—Eureka Challenges the State—So Does Winnemucca.

A congregation of baseball tossers in this city, calling themselves the "Stiffs," hereby issues a challenge to any other nine that Reno can produce to play for money or marbles, but fear there is no other club around here that would afford them common amusement. Arthur Donnelly, a player from wayback, and Long Levison, of the Burlington Blues, form the Stiff battery, while Seven-up-Jack, Tough White and Cunning Curtis will guard the three bags. Beech Williams will disport himself in the inner circle, and three others (not yet named) will stand sentinel in the outer field. The Stiffs are anxious that nine men chosen from the cream of Reno's ball talent will cross bats with them to-morrow afternoon. Where are the Dudes?

Eureka Base Ball.

The Winnemucca and Eureka base ball clubs will play a match game ten miles north of Eureka on Thursday next. The diamond field is in fine condition, near living springs of water, and is known as the oasis in the Eureka desert. Great interest is manifested in this game, as much money is expected to change hands. Johnnie Crowley, conductor of the E. & P. R. R. Company, is the popular captain of the Eureka club, and says with all the hurrah of the Western clubs, Eureka is ready and willing to play the Carsons, Daytons or Virginias for any amount of money they will put up. It is the prevailing opinion among Eurekans that in the match to be played with the Winnemuccas the latter will return home poorer if not wiser boys. As Captain Crowley says, "little ships should stop near shore while larger vessels venture more.

Winnemucca Base Ball.

The Winnemucca Base Ball Club offers an inducement to any club in the State to come there and play. The citizens of Humboldt are endeavoring all they know how to secure special railroad rates. The citizens presented them a short time ago with the champion ball and bat and they propose to give battle to any club in the State that will take up their challenge for $300.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

This body convenes in Chicago on October 19th. This is the best organized and best governed protective organization in the United States, the President of it, Mr. Arthur, being one of the most practical upright and far-seeing financiers that ever managed the affairs of a protective organization in this country. He recieves a big salary and has frequently refused very profitable offers from large enterprising business people; but he is so attached to the Brotherhood that nothing can induce him to relinquish his connection with it. He will be re-elected unanimously at the next convention. Nevada will be well represented in that body. Since the last meeting the Brotherhood have paid the widows of John Sterling and N. Cole of this Division $3,000 apiece. All it cost to settle these claims was the postage stamps required to carry the vouchers to the recipients. The members of this body attribute their success to the fact that they will not permit politics to enter into their deliberations under any circumstances whatever, which speaks volumes for their good sense.

He Succeeded.

An editor of an exchange took a boy to learn the printer's trade. He was careful to impress upon his mind the necessity of obedience and of doing everything thoroughly. After preliminary instruction, the lad was given a stick and rule, and was taken to a case to wrestle with a piece of copy. The editor went off to a political convention. The other boys in the office paid but little attention to the new recruit, and when the editor returned half a day later, he found the boy down upon his knees, searching for something upon the floor. "What's the matter, Johnny?" said he. "Why, I dropped a type before I got the first line set," replied the boy, "and you told me before I went to work, that whenever I dropped a type to pick it up before I did anything else. I've been looking for that darned type all day and I can't find it." Need we say that boy succeeded in business? He grew up, went West and was hanged in Arizona for horse stealing.

Charles Crocker, the railroad millionaire, cured of rheumatism in three treatments.

Professor D Gonzales, San Francisco, was given up by his physician to die of Sapped Vitality and Paralysis; was carried perfectly helpless to Dr. McLennan and cured; now says: "In less than one month I was enabled to resume my occupation as professor of music and violinist at the Tivoli Opera House, and ever since (for over three years) have continued in good health, without the slightest return of my weakness or disease."

Dr. Henry Slade says: "My case was considered incurable by the best physicians, but Dr. McLennan restored me the use of my limbs in less than twenty minutes, being paralyzed for over four months."

Dr. J. Wilmhurst, M. D., M. R. C. S., now at Abbottsford House, says: "My hearing is completely restored by Dr. MacLennan's manipulation alone."

Rev. A. C. Giles, Mendocino, Cal., says: "The effect which your treatment had on me is truly wonderful. Altogether I feel like a new man."

Dr. C. E. Davis, St. Helena, Cal., cured of nervous prostration, says: "After four days' treatment I was entirely relieved. I have now a good appetite and feel well."

THROUGH THE MEDIUM OF ONE of your books received through Mr. Frank T. Wray, druggist, Apollo, Pa., I became acquainted with your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and take this opportunity to testify to you that their use has permanently cured me of one of the worst cases of blood poisoning, in connection with erysipelas, that I have ever seen, and this, after having been pronounced incurable by some of the best physicians in our county. I take great pleasure in forwarding to you this testimonial, unsolicited as it is by you, in order that others suffering from similar maladies may be encouraged to give your CUTICURA REMEDIES a trial. SCROFULOUS ULCERS.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath says: "In 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, used them and was perfectly cured." Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. D. Crawford

ONE OF THE WORSE CASES

PLEURO-PNEUMONIA TALK.

A Northern California Veterinarian Airs His Views.

ALTURAS, Cal., September, 7.

Inoculation for the mitigation of pleuro-pneumonia is being practiced in France, Holland and Prussia. The inoculations are made under the conviction that pleuro-pneumonia is highly contagious and spreads itself from this cause as well as from the special causes of the extension of epizootic diseases. What takes place in the system of cattle after inoculation is identical with that observed in man when inoculated with virus. The operation in each case engenders a peculiar state of system which without imparting the disease itself to the subject, gives immunity against the several causes that produce it. No discovery of equal importance to the stockman has ever dawned upon the veterinary science. In this State, however, this fearful disease is not so prevalent as in various other countries. This arises in consequence of our cattle and horses being scattered over a much larger territory and our cities being free from the causes which are said to produce it, yet, enough losses occur here to arouse us to a sense of the danger. The advocates of inoculation declare that it is of equal importance to vaccination in the human subject.

In a short time that dreadful disease, in this country known as blackleg, may be disarmed of its terrors by the same process. Not only blackleg but many other contagious diseases may be made to assume an innocuous form.

As the subject is a new one to the stockmen of this State, I may be pardoned for introducing an illustration of the benefits derived from inoculation. The town of Hesselt, in which are kept 2,000 cows and oxen, is a town full of distilleries, and these animals are fed on slops and grains. From the situation want of drainage and accumulation of filth, added to the imperfect system of ventilation, the locality may be considered as the very center and focus of diseases like pleuro-pneumonia. Between the years 1836 to 1876 the town was never free from the malady and many hundreds of animals during that time have fallen victims to it. The town is now said to be free from the pest.

J. J. O'NEIL, V. T.

While the foregoing is interesting, the statements made are misleading and are not founded on fact. The writer of the above, if what he says is true, is entitled to the proud distinction of being the only man on the Pacific Coast who is aware of the existence of pleuro-pneumonia in this section of the country. The GAZETTE AND STOCKMAN has given the subject of pleuro-pneumonia much investigation and has yet to learn of a single case of pleuro-pneumonia ever existing in this portion of the footstool. Again, his claim that the cattle in Hesselt, after being affected with pleuro-pneumonia for forty years, are now, by inoculation, freed from the disease, is not borne out by existing facts. If the people of Hesselt have discovered a remedy for this mysterious ailment, it stands to reason that the people of Great Britain and the United States would have availed themselves of it years ago. The GAZETTE AND STOCKMAN would like to hear further from its correspondent on this subject.

Live Stock Miscellany.

New Mexico stockmen are alarmed by the threatened invasion of their ranges by Texas cattlemen.

The assessed valuation of cattle in Texas this year is between $5 and $6 a head. Last year it was $8 75. The assessors there are said to be very popular.

A correspondent says: I have found that a fluid ounce of crude carbolic acid added to a bucket (three gallons) of soapsuds is a perfect remedy for lice on cattle. I select a bright sunny day, and with a cloth wash them all over, being careful that it does not get into their eyes. It should be repeated in two or three days, to destroy any nits that may have escaped. It is equally effective on sheep and lambs for ticks—also on horses.

It is now a good time to make a note of the breeding mares and ascertain which are best for breeding purposes. Spring colts are at an age in which the good or bad qualities of the dam are plainly noticeable, and for that reason there is no better time for passing judgment upon the merits of a brood mare than in the Fall of the year. While poor breeding is one of the most serious objections to a mare for a breeder, it is not the only one. There are many things which disqualify a brood mare, and when breeding for the best results a keen lookout for the best mares, as well as for the stallions, is quite necessary.

Rare Chance for Speculation in Property that is Steadily Rising.

The heavy demand now being made for Santa Clara Valley farms and lots in the City of San Jose is making prices rise steadily and affords a chance seldom offered to invest in a desirable location at prices that are certain of an advance.

Investments in Santa Clara Valley are more reasonable at present prices than at any other locality in the State of California when advantages of railroad shipment, rich soil, educational facilities, unequalled public improvements in respect to roads, sewers and public buildings, healthfulness and climate, are considered, which alone makes them certain and desirable.
